The French original of this work, "Iconographie des azalées de l'Inde", was issued in 12 pt., from Oct. 1861 to Oct. 1862. From notices in contemporary publications and from the t.-p. quoted above, it seems probable that the English version also appeared in parts covering the same dates.

Translation of the author's Giro del mondo, Napoli, 1699-1700. The authorship of this translation has been ascribed to Eustache Lenoble, possibly because the initials of the translator are given as M. L. N. on the t.-p. of the rev. ed. Paris, 1727. Translation of v. 1-6 of the author's Giro del mondo, rev. ed. pub. in 9 v., Venezia, 1719. General synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church in the United States of America.

Organized in 1820 by four of the then existing synods, viz. the Pennsylvania ministerium, the New York ministerium, the North Carolina synod, and the Maryland and Virginia synod. In 1862 four of the Southern synods organized the General synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church of the Confederate States of America, withdrawing from the parent body in 1863. The admission of the Franckean synod in 1864 brought about the disruption of the General synod in 1866 and the founding of the General council in 1867. In 1918 the General synod reunited with the synods that broke away from it to form the United Lutheran church in America.

Popularly referred to as the General synod.

4 p. l., lxv, 96 p. 24cm.

Reprint of Dutch translation (Utrecht, n. d.) of the author's Der sünden loin ist der teid, Köln, 1530, which in turn was in the main based on the Homulus Petri Dirathemii of Christianus Ischyrius, the Hecastus of Macropedius, and the Eickerlijc, ascribed to Petrus Dorlandus (also known as Petrus Dierthemius) Another Dutch version of Gennep's play appeared at Nijmegen, 1556.
In the introduction the editor discusses the priority of Eickerlijc and Everyman. He believes that both are translated from a play "Quilibet,"

Geological society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. Transactions ... 1835. (Card 2)

The principal object of the society was to promote the establishment of a state geological survey; the first Geological survey of Pennsylvania was authorized in 1836. No further record of the society has been found, and it apparently ceased to exist after its object had been accomplished; its members (who took no part in the survey) joined in the organization of a new, national society in 1840, the Association of American geologists, out of which developed, in 1848, the American association for the advancement of science. cf. J. P. Lesley, Historical sketch of geological explorations in Pennsylvania and other states. 1876. (Second Geological survey of Pennsylvania: 1874-75-76) p. A29-A32.
